

Later, the runaway, leaving no trace,
not even a trace of misfortune

(1990)

This piece concerns the composition of difference tones.

They require

1. The specific frequency spectra which make them audible;
2. Music to play in.

When one hears them, the differences become an identity.

At that moment, one dreams of catching difference tones like catching a rainbow.